EXHIBIT “A”
PROGRAM SUMMARY, REQUIREMENTS AND PERMITTED USES OF FUNDS

Scope of Work Items

Activity

Agency, The Samaritan Inn, will be responsible for Case Management Services. The agency will also be referred to interchangeably as “Subrecipient,” with regard to this funding, supported through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The agency agrees to provide information to support subrecipient documentation, including its Tax I.D. Number, DUNS/CCR number as required by HUD and the City of McKinney.

The Subrecipient must be in good standing at the federal, state and local levels. In addition, agencies must:

- Must be registered in <https://sam.gov/SAM/> during the award period and thereafter under the record retention period.
- Submit all required 990s to the IRS and Single Audits, per 2 CFR 200, Subpart F- Audit Requirements to the Federal Clearing House at the end of its fiscal year.
- Organizations must submit reports and other required documentation timely
- Ensure there are no Conflicts of Interest, per HUD requirements

As the Subrecipient is acting on behalf of the city, the awarded organization will be required to assist the City in demonstrating accurate program benefit for the project activities implemented. Subrecipient will agree to work diligently toward the objectives outlined in the Continuum of Care (CoC) approved plan. If it is determined that any of the objectives will not be completed within the identified timeframe, the Subrecipient must notify the Manager immediately. Failure to meet the objectives may result in incidents of non-performance and may have an adverse impact on the consideration of future grant submissions.

Program Summary

The Rapid Re-housing grant will allow participants to stabilize housing, while the Case Management activity under the Subrecipient, The Samaritan Inn, will connect participants to resources in the community that can enable them to build on their strengths and meet their basic needs. The program will provide housing for a minimum of 12 families, as well as assistance with utility and security deposits and moving expenses.

The Case Manager will work with the City to identify a suitable property and first resolve the housing issue. The participant will be screened for common barriers to housing, such as income, credit, eviction or criminal history. Individual plans will be enacted to overcome these barriers. There will be no expectations of certain behavioral or economic conditions that must be met before receiving housing. The Case Manager will focus on the strengths of the participants, be proactive and prepared to inform participants about resources available in the community; also will take the lead from the participant as to what services will be needed. As part of this process, the case manager will assess the client’s family and community support networks. Services will be changed as the person’s situation and capability change. Due to the very personalized nature of the case management services needed, the case manager’s caseload will consist of 12 – 15 families.

The case manager will establish a contract with the City regarding the expectations for individual participant contact and services. After one month, the case manager and participant will develop a “Life Plan” establishing goals and resources needed, as well as a schedule for transitioning off of housing support. The participant will have 30 full days to adjust to their new housing situation before goals are set. The participant’s “Life Plan” will focus on budgeting, end goals, with specific action steps to be met by the participant and the case manager.

Confidentiality

The Agency and the City will work together to provide performance data into the required HUD systems, including SAGE and HMIS. In addition to meeting the specific confidentiality and security requirements for HMIS data, the recipient and subrecipient will establish written procedures to ensure records containing program participant identifying information are kept secure and confidential, address or location of violence program site will not be made public, and the address location of any housing of a program participant will not be made public. (24 CFR Part 578.103(b))

The Agency will only be responsible for reporting data to the City. The City will enter data into required formats issued by HUD, including HMIS.

(a) Equal treatment of program participants and program beneficiaries.

(1) Program participants. Organizations that are religious or faith-based are eligible, on the same basis as any other organization, to participate in the CoC program or HUD programs. Decisions about Federal financial assistance to recipient organization will be free of political interference and shall be based on merit and will not discriminate against an organization on the basis of the organization's religious character, affiliation or lack thereof, an organization.

(b) Separation of Explicitly Religious Activities. Per 24 CFR 5.109(d), Organizations that are directly funded under the CoC program or other HUD programs, may not engage in "explicitly religious activities", such as worship, religious instruction, or proselytization, as part of the programs or services funded. Other examples of explicitly religious activities include devotional exercises, production or dissemination of devotional guides or other religious materials or counseling in which counselors introduce religious content. Such organization will retain its independence from federal, state, and local governments, and may continue to carry out its mission, including the definition, practice, and expression of its religious beliefs, provided that it does not use direct CoC funds to support any explicitly religious activities, such as worship, religious instruction, or proselytization. Faith-based organizations may use space in their facilities to provide CoC-funded services, without removing or altering religious art, icons, scriptures, or other religious symbols. In addition, a COC-funded religious organization retains authority over its internal governance, and it may retain religious terms in its organization's name, select its board members on a religious basis, and include religious references in its organization's mission statements and other governing documents. Organizations will not be subjected to regulation or monitoring that would create excessive entanglement between the city and faith-based entity.

(d) Beneficiaries. An organization that participates in the CoC program shall not in providing program assistance, discriminate against a program beneficiary or a prospective program beneficiary, on the basis of religion or religious belief. Beneficiaries must receive written notice of Beneficiary Rights before enrollment in a program or activity supported by direct Federal financial assistance - at the earliest available opportunity- as required per 24 CFR 5.109.
