

There has been quite a bit of activity since last month's board meeting. There has been a significant increase in project activity over the last few weeks. Some older projects gained new life, and several new projects have begun. I traveled to Chicago with the Dallas Regional Chamber to call on site consultants at the end of June. It was a good trip, and we had some very productive conversations with the consultants. The other four communities on the trip were Denton, Fairview, Frisco, and Plano. Collin County was well represented, and it was beneficial to present the benefits of the entire area as well as the distinguishing factors that set McKinney apart.
