Re: Support of North Collin County Habitat for Humanity ReStore

To Whom It May Concern:

Over the past ten years, IESI and North Collin County Habitat for Humanity have worked together on several projects including Habitat's annual fundraiser, Taste of Collin County.

At IESI our business is a cleaner community and our goal is a greener environment. We actively support and partner with our communities on Recycling programs which provide a viable alternative to adding unnecessary waste to the landfill while promoting a greener, healthier environment.

Our waste management and recycling facilities encourage economic vitality and growth in our partner communities through more than cash donations or in-kind contributions. Throughout the IESI service region, we purchase goods and services locally, employ local people, and contribute to the local tax base. We also belong to our local Chambers of Commerce and sponsor community events that promote the economy and enhance quality of life. Our employees volunteer and serve in leadership positions on community boards and commissions including the North Collin County Habitat Board of Directors and ReStore Management & Operations Review Committee.

The missions of IESI and the NCCHFH ReStore are cohesive in that both organizations work to increase the long-term stability of communities in North Texas and Northern Collin County through recycling programs that promote sustainable, green and healthy living environments.

Non-profits that can provide a viable disposal alternative for building supplies, homeowner remodel projects and construction waste or who help to divert paint and other items from the landfill provide an alternative disposal resource to our homeowners and businesses. NCCHFH ReStore is a model program for a community reuse, reduce and recycle initiative.

We at IESI are proud to support the efforts of this local non-profit through their Recycling Center at the ReStore and encourage all local residents and businesses to help the environment while supporting a the Habitat mission of developing communities by enabling families to achieve the dream of homeownership with dignity.
