Comments

What a big year for our studio! We outgrew our small room at the McKinney Art House on N Kentucky Street and moved in September to the upstairs space of my historic two story carriage house at 708 N Church Street. This really expanded our classes as we've been able to offer more open space and more scholarships. From the moment we move into the new space we knew we needed to keep expanding so we converted my three car garage into a lovely open and airy pottery studio.

The funding from your grant has helped ease the pressure offering free classes brings. We used our profits for expansion and your support for free classes.

Most of our students come from the Samaritan Inn but lately we have been finding needy families are everywhere.
