Johnson House History

Soon to be 150 years old, the 1870 Johnson House, was built by Dr. James Harmon, a local photographer, is a Victorian Cottage with Italianate eave brackets and is original to its current location. Mr. John Johnson, a Confederate Captain, bought the home in 1878 where he raised his 13 children to be closer to school. Mr. Johnson was known as a colorful politician who served as a State Senator and a Legislator. He is credited with writing the Homestead Bill, which became law in 1876.

The Bobby Younger Story

A descendant of Captain Johnson, Bobby Younger, was a World War II airman and hero who was killed in action upon his 13th mission over Germany. Bobby graduated from McKinney High School and was a freshmen at Texas A&M when he volunteered for duty at the age of 18. 'Bobby's Room' is located upstairs and has been dedicated to honor him. You might know that Bobby was a boyhood friend of both Bill Dowdy and Henry Myrick. The remains of Bobby's crew were recently identified and buried with full honors in June 2018 in Arlington National Cemetery.

He didn't know that flight would be his last.

The World War II serviceman from McKinney was pronounced missing in action after his plane was shot down and went into a fiery descent before crashing near Barby, Germany.

Three of the nine crew members survived and were captured. A fourth was killed and identified in 1945. In 1951, the American Graves Registration Command concluded that the five unac-

In 2015, a possible crash site was located, and a team of archaeologists excavated the wreckage and identified the remains of three of the five missing crewmen, including Younger.

On Wednesday, Younger's remains, along with those of four other crew members,
