How We've Built the Capacity to Deliver

In the two years since launching our Kings Row 5-plex, we have learned, adapted, and grown. Here's what's different.

New CEO Leadership

Stephannie Krunglevich joined as President & CEO in March 2026, bringing organizational stability, strategic vision, and clear operational direction. Leadership continuity is no longer a variable.

Expanded Construction Capacity

We've engaged a trusted contractor with townhome-specific expertise. This partnership delivers job cost controls, vendor contract relationships, and expedited construction timelines purpose-built for multi-unit development.

Applied Lessons Learned

Our first multi-unit project taught us what we needed to know. Construction plans, vendor selection, permitting sequencing, and project management protocols for Cotton Groves and Canal Street reflect those lessons directly.

Strengthened Administrative Capacity

Grant compliance, financial reporting, and project administration functions have matured significantly through hands-on experience. We now manage complex multi-source funding with established systems and dedicated staff accountability.

Impact on McKinney's Economy & Quality of Life

McKinney faces a shortage of 4,442 affordable units for households under 60% AMI (Root Policy Research, Jan 2026).
Median home price now $485,000 — far beyond reach of workforce families

13 New Families Housed

Low-income McKinney families at ≤60% AMI gain stable affordable ownership — far below the $485K market median.

Expanded Tax Base

Vacant/underutilized land generates no tax revenue. Developed homes add permanent taxable value to McKinney's rolls.

Neighborhood Uplift

Revitalizing underutilized land improves surrounding property values and reduces code enforcement burden citywide.

Economic Stimulus

Construction spending circulates locally. New homeowners pay property taxes and spend in McKinney businesses.

Workforce Stability

Stable housing reduces turnover among essential workers — retail, healthcare, and education — priced out of the market.

Advances City Goals

Directly supports McKinney City Council's FY2026 strategic goal of affordable homes for households ≤60% AMI.
